Applications are open for KCHD's Youth Health Board

Knoxville, Tenn. — The Youth Health Board (YHB) is accepting applications from Knox County high school students. The program a great resume builder for potential college applications, and it provides a learning opportunity in the field of public health and other health-related professions. The deadline to apply is May 1.

"Students on the Youth Health Board gain life experience that they can take with them into college and their daily lives," said Taylor Evans, public health educator for KCHD. "Students get to be involved in projects within their own community and network with professionals. It's also a great place to meet students with similar goals and passions from different high schools."

Monthly meetings feature guest speakers and volunteer opportunities that enable students to explore and act on issues affecting our community, such as mental health, emergency preparedness, physical activity, nutrition, and adolescent health issues.

Youth Health Board applicants will need to commit to:

- Serving a one-year term, May 2023 – April 2024
- Attending monthly meetings
- Attending a minimum of two Social Focus meetings
- Serving a minimum of 15 hours through various volunteer and public health community events
